Reverend John Fitzmaurice of St. Mary's Catholic Church of St. Clair offered the following invocation:

Father in heaven, we thank You for this day. We thank You for our lives. We thank You for all You have created, especially the great state of Michigan. Today, we ask special graces upon those who are out doing Your work, whether they be health professionals, teachers, tradesmen, business owners, or whoever is out there bringing forward the state of Michigan. We also pray for those who cannot work, whether it be through a mental or physical impairment, an economic situation, or a disability. May they feel the grace of God's hand helping them.

As we approach and get closer to Pentecost Sunday, we certainly feel the Holy Spirit among us. May the Holy Spirit fill this chamber today with the Senators who are on the floor and all those who work with them; that their decisions are just; that they open their minds and open their hearts to further this state for the greater good of all of its citizens.

We ask this all today through our Savior Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

The President, Lieutenant Governor Calley, led the members of the Senate in recital of the Pledge of Allegiance.

Resolutions

House Concurrent Resolution No. 3

Senate Resolution No. 76

Senate Resolution No. 75

The motion prevailed.

Senator Pavlov offered the following resolution:

Senate Resolution No. 174.

A resolution to recognize Clay Township as the sturgeon angling capital of Michigan.

Whereas, By far, more sturgeon angling occurs in the North and Middle Channels of the St. Clair River within the political boundaries of Clay Township than anywhere else in Michigan. Though other areas of the state are open to catch and immediate release for sturgeon fishing, populations are too small to make sturgeon a viable target species in most watersheds. In a few other areas where some harvest is allowed, regulations severely restrict the seasons. Most sturgeon fishing in the St. Clair River occurs in the North Channel, which is almost entirely within the boundaries of Clay Township; and

Whereas, The waters of the St. Clair River within Clay Township have the longest and most active harvest seasons for lake sturgeon in Michigan for nonstocked waters with natural reproduction. The harvest season in the waters of the St. Clair River in Clay Township runs from July 16 until the end of September. Catch and immediate release angling continues until the end of November; and

Whereas, More sturgeon fishing permits are issued to anglers in the Greater Detroit Metro Area, including Wayne, Macomb, St. Clair, and Oakland Counties, with the vast majority issued in Macomb and St. Clair Counties. Those anglers fish almost exclusively within the Clay Township waters of the North Channel of the St. Clair River; and

Whereas, The waters of the North Channel of the St. Clair River within the boundaries of Clay Township support the only commercial charter boat fishery for lake sturgeon in the state of Michigan; and

Whereas, More tagged sturgeon are reported to the Department of Natural Resources (DNR), and more Lake Sturgeon Management Cooperator patches are issued to anglers fishing the Clay Township waters of the St. Clair River than to anglers fishing anywhere else in the state of Michigan; and

Whereas, A vast majority of lake sturgeon recorded in the Michigan DNR Master Angler Program are taken from Clay Township waters of the North Channel of the St. Clair River. A search of the records for the last five years shows that 63 of 67 entries came from the St. Clair River and Lake St. Clair; and

Whereas, Michigan's only sturgeon and most unique fishing tournament, the North Channel Sturgeon Classic, is held fully within the Clay Township waters of the North Channel of the St. Clair River. There were more than 33 fish caught by anglers during the tournament in 2015; and

Whereas, National Geographic television filmed a sturgeon angling segment on the Clay Township waters of the North Channel of the St. Clair which aired in 2009 and several times thereafter as part of the "Monster Fish" series. Michigan Out of Doors television has done several sturgeon angling segments over the last several years for the television show. All of these trips have taken place in the Clay Township waters of the North Channel of the St. Clair River; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate, That we encourage and express support for the recognition of Clay Township as the sturgeon angling capital of Michigan; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to Clay Township, St. Clair County, Michigan Department of Natural Resources, organizers of the North Channel Sturgeon Classic, and the Michigan United Conservation Clubs.

Pending the order that, under rule 3.204, the resolution be referred to the Committee on Government Operations,

Senator Stamas moved that the rule be suspended.

The motion prevailed, a majority of the members serving voting therefor.

The question being on the adoption of the resolution,

Senator Stamas moved that the resolution be referred to the Committee on Outdoor Recreation and Tourism.

The motion prevailed.

Senators Hansen, Knollenberg, O'Brien and Zorn were named co-sponsors of the resolution.

Senator Young offered the following resolution:

Senate Resolution No. 175.

Whereas, Metro Detroit Youth Day is the largest event in Michigan and the Midwest. It emphasizes the need for physical education and fitness, good sportsmanship, community services, and guidance from mentorships, role models, and college scholarships; and

Whereas, It is acknowledged that our youth are a valuable asset to the community and the foundation of our future; and

Whereas, Metro Detroit Youth Day brings together the total community and the private sector to enhance relationships and improve community cooperation and harmony; and

Whereas, Metro Detroit Youth Day provides an opportunity for youth to participate in constructive activities outside their immediate home areas, working with thousands of other youngsters and more than 1,600 volunteers; and

Whereas, Outstanding and dedicated community leaders such as foundation founder and chairman Ed Deeb; co-chairs Keith Bennett of Goodwill Industries; Sergeant Curtis Perry of Detroit Police Cadets; John Ambrose of Michigan State University; Ron Olson of Department of Natural Resources; Harold Edwards of MichCon (retired); Bruce Ross & Associates; and Barbra Jean Johnson of the Tireman Center are co-chairing this event, along with hundreds of volunteers supervising the more than 34,000 youths expected to attend; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate, That we hereby commemorate July 13, 2016, as Metro Detroit Youth Day in the state of Michigan.

Pending the order that, under rule 3.204, the resolution be referred to the Committee on Government Operations,

Senator Stamas moved that the rule be suspended.

A resolution to commemorate May 12, 2016, as Chaldean American Day.

Whereas, 130,000 Chaldeans, the largest population outside of Iraq, reside in the state of Michigan; and

Whereas, Since migrating to America during the 1920s, Chaldeans have continued to use their strong work ethic to contribute to the growth of Michigan through the establishment of more than 15,000 Chaldean-owned businesses across the state; and

Whereas, The Chaldean population has consistently proven their entrepreneurial spirit with nearly 60 percent of the community owning at least one business and 80 percent of all food stores in the Detroit area alone; and

Whereas, The population of Chaldean Americans continues to grow in the state of Michigan, since the Iraqi Chaldean refugees began migrating in search of better economic, political, and religious opportunities; and

Whereas, The Chaldean American community works to help the refugees adjust and become contributing citizens to the Great Lakes State through business, philosophy, language, and cuisine; and

Whereas, The Chaldean Community Foundation provides social services to more than 8,000 people annually at its Sterling Heights and Southfield offices, by advancing the needs of the Chaldean American community and the communities in which they live and work through education, charitable giving, and advocacy; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate, That the members of this legislative body commemorate May 12, 2016, as Chaldean American Day in the state of Michigan. We acknowledge the contributions of this innovative and entrepreneurial community as an important part of Michigan's diverse history; and be it further

Introduction and Referral of Bills

Senators Hertel, Hood and Gregory introduced

Senate Bill No. 961, entitled

A bill to amend 1893 PA 206, entitled "The general property tax act," by amending section 7b (MCL 211.7b), as amended by 2013 PA 161.

The bill was read a first and second time by title and referred to the Committee on Finance.

Statements

Senator Colbeck asked and was granted unanimous consent to make a statement and moved that the statement be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Colbeck's statement is as follows:

In December 2015, the Michigan Department of Education released a statement of its goal to make Michigan a top-10 state in ten years and establish Michigan as a premier education state. As a member of the Senate Education Committee, I share this goal wholeheartedly. Unfortunately, the data shows that we're not on a trajectory to achieve this worthy goal. According to a 2014 competitive benchmarking report from the Business Leaders for Michigan, Michigan ranks 38th in reading and 37th in eighth-grade math. Our most recent M-STEP results revealed that only 50 percent of our third-graders are proficient in reading, while only 28 percent of our eleventh-graders are proficient in math.

What put us on this trajectory? In June 2010, the Michigan State Board of Education adopted Common Core Standards for math and English language arts without any evidence to indicate that these standards would help improve student performance. We are now almost six years into this Common Core experiment, and the aforementioned results speak for themselves. The reasons for these results are many. One of the most glaring is that more time is spent on testing to feed the data lust of central control advocates, and less time is spent on the classroom instruction, actually teaching the kids the subjects that matter most.

It is clear to any objective observer that the adoption of Common Core has resulted in a race to the middle, not to the top. The word "common" should have been a dead giveaway. In order to become a top-10 state, wouldn't it make sense to emulate the top education state rather than roll the dice with our kids on unproven standards?

The top-rated state is Massachusetts. Massachusetts students have achieved first place or near first place on National Assessment of Educational Progress tests in reading and math starting in 2005 through 2016. All demographic groups have demonstrated improvement during this timeframe. Massachusetts also participated as a country in the Trends in International Mathematics and Science Study in 2007 and 2011. In both years, they tied for first place with Singapore in Grade 8 science and placed among the top six countries in Grade 8 mathematics.

In spite of these successes, even Massachusetts adopted Common Core Standards back in 2010. Since then, Massachusetts has experienced a leveling of performance growth. The latest test results actually show a dip in their prior year performance. Why, then, did states like Massachusetts adopt this race to the middle in the first place? It turns out that the federal government provided financial incentives via programs like Race to the Top to states if they were to adopt Common Core. Massachusetts received $250 million in support of their switch. Michigan received zero dollars for their switch but had obviously hoped for more.

The good news is that the recent passage of the federal Every Student Succeeds Act removes the funding carrots that had enticed states to adopt Common Core. Michigan has an opportunity to take advantage of this new act by passing Senate Bill No. 826, which I introduced as a companion bill to House Bill No. 5444, introduced by Representative Gary Glenn in the House. The passage of Senate Bill No. 826 would repeal Common Core Standards in Michigan and replace them with the proven pre-Common Core Massachusetts standards. By doing so, we would help replace our current focus on testing with that of teaching. Michigan would finally be on a proven trajectory to be a top-10 state in education.
