Protest

Senator Cherry, under her constitutional right of protest (Art. 4, Sec. 18), protested against the passage of House Bill No. 5814.

Senator Cherry's statement is as follows:

I voted "no" for a couple of reasons. One is that there is some boilerplate language in the bill that relates to payments to foster care, and it includes unlimited counseling and therapy. The department was talking about how that will cost this budget untold millions of dollars. So I am voting "no" because if we are doing that but can't find money for child care and child-care workers, I think that is the wrong direction. My "no" vote reflects that policy.

The following bill was read a third time:

House Bill No. 5812, entitled

A bill to make appropriations for the department of military and veterans affairs for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2009; to provide for the expenditure of the appropriations; to provide for certain powers and duties of the department of military and veterans affairs, other state agencies, and local units of government related to the appropriations; and to provide for the preparation of certain reports related to the appropriations.

Protests

Senators Cropsey and Hardiman, under their constitutional right of protest (Art. 4, Sec. 18), protested against the adoption of the amendment offered by Senator Basham to House Bill No. 5808 and moved that statements they made during the discussion of the amendment be printed as their reasons for voting “no.”

The motion prevailed.

Senator Cropsey’s first statement is as follows:

I am kind of curious about the remarks of the previous speaker talking about how his amendment will allow the DRIC study to go forward. I would like to read the part of the budget bill that he wants to strike. I think he is probably doing just the opposite. The part he wants to strike says, on page 30 of the bill, line 16, “The state transportation department is allowed to finish the Detroit River international crossing (DRIC) study provided the activity associated with finishing the DRIC study shall not bind the state in any way to construction or future action of any DRIC project recommendation.”

Now, we were told last year that once the study was finished, they would have to come back to the Legislature and get authorization to do any more building. All this is saying is that the study is going to be finished, but don’t obligate the state to anything more than the study. I fail to understand how he is reading this section as killing the DRIC study. It specifically authorizes the DRIC study to go forward and to be finished. And the agreement that I had with Director Steudle last year was that we knew we needed to leave about $2 million more to finish the study in state tax dollars that would bring in $17 million in federal tax dollars. And if we didn’t do that, we would have to be paying back the federal government several millions of dollars. So I said, okay, we are going to finish the study. It was going to be around a couple million dollars, give or take a couple hundred thousand dollars, and I said, hey, if it costs more than $2 million and is a couple hundred thousand dollars more, I wouldn’t have a problem with that.

The study is going to be finished, and this language authorizes that the study be finished. It just says that before you start to build anything else, you can’t do it until you come back to the Legislature. And perhaps if the previous speaker would refer to Section 384, the specific language that kills the study, I would like to know where it is. Because as you read through Section 384, nowhere does it talk about stopping the study. It basically says finish the DRIC study, but don’t do anything beyond the DRIC study until you come back to the Legislature for authorization to build anything beyond that.

If perhaps the previous speaker could clarify where it is in the language and read it to us because as I am reading this language, it says the DRIC study is to be finished. I would appreciate the previous speaker clarifying which section, which words, what page, or what line says the DRIC study is going to be done away with by this Section 384. I don’t think you will find it.

Senator Hardiman’s statement is as follows:

I ask that the body not support this amendment. The language in the bill does not prohibit the DRIC study from being completed as the previous speaker has said. So I ask that we turn this amendment down.

Senator Cropsey’s second statement is as follows:

I appreciate the Senator from the 8th District getting up and explaining, but he never pointed out where this language—chapter and verse, so to speak, or page and line—kills the DRIC study. It does not kill the DRIC study. It authorizes the DRIC study to go forward and to be completed. I don’t know why he would want to take this language out that says that we need to maintain control of the Department of Transportation through the budget process, and make sure that they don’t go spending money beyond the DRIC study unless we have specifically authorized it.

Now, if you want to give up your rights as a Legislature in order to appropriate money to make sure the money is being spent properly, then fine, adopt the Basham amendment. But if you think maybe the Legislature ought to have some say in how monies are appropriated in this state, which I believe is our constitutional duty to do so, then we will want to turn down the Basham amendment.

So I would hope that as you take a look at this that you would say, "Let's keep the current section in there, and let's not just let this department run wild." If you recall last year, a major concern that we as a Legislature had was that the previous year we had tried to stop the DRIC study. The Department of Transportation told us, they said, "All that was worded in such a way that we thought we could go ahead and do the study anyway," which they went ahead and did so, in spite of the fact that they knew the intent of the Legislature was not to do the study at that time.

And because the Department of Transportation put us over a barrel, where they used a lot of federal dollars, millions of dollars in federal money, we would have to pay that all back if we didn't get the study completed after they went forward with the study. We said, fine, we will put a couple million of state tax dollars into it to finish the study, but nothing beyond the study unless you come back and get specific authorization from us as a Legislature.

So I would urge that we turn down the Basham amendment so that we maintain control of the state purse strings and don't allow a department to run roughshod over us and try to usurp our authority as a Legislature to appropriate the proper monies.

Senator Basham asked and was granted unanimous consent to make statements and moved that the statements be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Basham's first statement is as follows:

Another year, another budget—another transportation budget, same issue. This amendment actually strikes language that is very detrimental to the DRIC process. For those who don't know what the DRIC study is, it is the Detroit River International Crossing study. There has been a member of this chamber trying to kill that study. The study is almost complete, and this is just further language that would stop, basically, commerce in this country. Thirty percent of the commerce between Canada and the U.S. goes across an 80-year-old privately-owned bridge.

There are 24 international border crossings in this country, 22 of them are publicly-owned. The DRIC process would be a public-private partnership financed by private equity bonds the same way as the Ambassador Bridge project if it were to proceed forward also. I am not in favor of killing the Ambassador Bridge from double-spanning their bridge if they can get all the permits and get an approval from both Canadian and American governments. But for the Ambassador Bridge folks to kill a public study, public progression of MDOT and the Canadian government, it's a bilateral study. The Ambassador Bridge could very well be a bridge to nowhere because they do not have Canadian approval.

As a matter of fact, the Canadians have passed C3 legislation actually preventing a privately-owned international border crossing into Canada. Canada is actually our partner, and we need to make sure that when we go forward with any kind of study or any kind of approval for an international border crossing that we include neighbors to the north. They have been good neighbors, and that is why I am wearing a lapel pin today that shows both the U.S. flag and the Canadian flag.

This amendment, my amendment, would actually strike the troubling language that is in the transportation budget that essentially kills the DRIC study, a study supported by the Auto Alliance, Automation Alley, the Detroit Chamber of Commerce, the Ontario Chamber of Commerce, the Michigan manufacturers, and others. There is a reason that these business groups support the DRIC process going forward.

I would encourage members to think long and hard before not supporting this amendment. This has to do with jobs, commerce, and our country's future as well as Michigan's. So I would encourage your support of my amendment.

Senator Basham's second statement is as follows:

First of all, the Legislature still retains budgetary review over any MDOT spending on this project. Secondly, if a decision is made to go forward with the public ownership and operator, the Legislature will need to create authorizing and enabling legislation for an authority and would have the opportunity to write in oversight requirements if the Legislature so desires. Thirdly, if the decision is made to go with the public-private partnership route, then the Legislature will need to create legislation to allow that and could write their own oversight rules into this legislation.

There is a reason that the Auto Alliance put out a letter supporting this project. And if I may quote them, it says, "The purpose of this letter is to strongly encourage you to continue to fund the DRIC project." And we are getting hung up on the word "study" leading to a new crossing in the near future. I personally would support if the Ambassador Bridge gets their double span and they get their permits—that's fine—but certainly not stopping the DRIC project.

So we won't talk about narrowing it to just the study. Let both projects go forward, and let's support commerce in this great state of Michigan.

Senator Anderson offered the following amendment:

1. Amend page 30, line 16, by striking out all of section 384 and inserting:

"Sec. 384. (1) The state transportation department is allowed to finish the Detroit River international crossing (DRIC) study. From the funds appropriated in part 1, the department is prohibited from pursuing actions beyond the normal completion of the study phase unless legislation is enacted permitting public private partnerships that can be utilized for a new international crossing at the Detroit River.

(2) The senate and house shall hold committee hearings on the involvement of the department on the DRIC study at which time the department shall present an accounting of any DRIC project costs.

(3) Within 30 days of the effective date of this act, the department shall submit a report to the senate and house appropriations subcommittees on transportation and the state transportation commission that identifies the source and use of all funds attributable to or expended in furtherance of the DRIC study or the border transportation partnership. The report shall include copies of all contracts, agreements, and expenses associated with the project from October 1, 2003 to June 30, 2008.”

The amendment was not adopted, a majority of the members serving not voting therefor.

Senator Thomas requested the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered, 1/5 of the members present voting therefor.

Protests

Senators Pappageorge and Hardiman, under their constitutional right of protest (Art. 4, Sec. 18), protested against the adoption of the amendment offered by Senator Anderson to House Bill No. 5808 and moved that statements they made during the discussion of the amendment be printed as their reasons for voting “no.”

The motion prevailed.

Senator Pappageorge’s statement is as follows:

You know, the underlying issue here, colleagues, is separation of powers. What these amendments are trying to do is to allow MDOT to proceed as if they have an okay to build a bridge. And the whole time we are deliberating on whether or not we ought to be building a bridge there, MDOT will be spending money to do exactly that. That is why the transportation bill is written the way it is, to assert the fact that there is a separation of powers issue here, and the department should not proceed as if they have an okay to build a bridge until we’ve seen that study and deliberated.

So I would urge my colleagues on all of these amendments and all these things about this would be a wonderful place to build a bridge and all the support from various people—don’t be distracted. The issue is separation of powers. We see that study, and then we decide whether MDOT should be spending taxpayer money to start building a bridge.

Senator Hardiman's statement is as follows:

Mr. President, I rise to oppose this amendment. There is already language in the bill which allows for the completion of the DRIC study. It simply requires and is pretty tight that the department would come back to the Legislature. This has already been stated that that should be the process anyway. We should not allow the department to move forward without that. The language in the bill provides for that, so I would oppose this amendment.

Protest

Senator Thomas, under his constitutional right of protest (Art. 4, Sec. 18), protested against the passage of the House Bill No. 5810.

Senator Thomas' statement is as follows:

During committee and throughout much of this process, there was a proposal put forward that I believe would have created a cost-effective means for our state's criminal justice system, and it would have saved substantial monies for Michigan taxpayers. It would have created mental health courts and used other diversion services. At a time when we have so many uninsured and so many folks suffering with mental illness without getting appropriate care, I believe that spending a small investment of resources through our budgeting process would have made sense.

As you know, mental health courts allow judges to direct people with mental illness charged with minor offenses treatment rather than jail. As lawmakers, it seems to me we should strive to control Michigan's soaring corrections costs. We should be working to ensure that we make the best use of limited resources and the most appropriate sentencing for offenders. The fact is, however, far too many people who need mental health care, not jail, are serving time rather than getting treatment. Treating people with mental illness appropriately is both more humane and it makes the most of our limited state resources.

The vast majority of individuals with mental illness who are arrested are charged with minor, nonviolent offenses. Many of them do not have access to appropriate care. When in the acute phase of their illness, they may come in contact with law enforcement and are often sentenced to serious prison terms. People with mental illness are often unable to comply with prison rules. They may then be put into solitary confinement or kept longer in prison because of the conditions associated with their illness.

Proper mental health treatment, it seems to me, can prevent these incidents that land so many folks, unfortunately, into a prolonged stay in jail that adds to our overcrowding. I think that we missed an opportunity. While I am appreciative that there is a placeholder in this particular budget, I think that a more prudent investment of our state's resources would be to fund mental health courts, and I think this Legislature should appropriately look at that.

The following bill was read a third time:

House Bill No. 4965, entitled

A bill to authorize the state administrative board to convey certain interests in property in Kalkaska county; and to provide for disposition of the revenue derived from the conveyance.

Resolutions

Senator Cropsey moved that further consideration of the following resolutions be postponed for today:

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 22

Senate Resolution No. 155

The motion prevailed.

The question was placed on the adoption of the following resolution consent calendar:

Senate Resolution No. 197

The resolution consent calendar was adopted.

Senator Thomas offered the following resolution:

Senate Resolution No. 197.

A resolution commemorating Saturday, June 7, 2008, as Childhood Cancer Survivors Day in the state of Michigan.

Whereas, Today, over 250,000 Americans are survivors of childhood cancer. Most children survive thanks to advances in early cancer detection, treatment, and research; and

Whereas, Children's Hospital of Michigan, the oldest and largest hospital caring for the children of Michigan, has an active, productive cancer survivor population. This demonstrates that a cancer diagnosis is no longer an automatic death sentence; and

Whereas, In addition to Childhood Cancer Survivors Day, communities all across America will be celebrating life Sunday, June 8, 2008, as part of the world's largest cancer survivor event, the 21st annual National Cancer Survivors Day; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate, That the members of this legislative body commemorate Saturday, June 7, 2008, as Childhood Cancer Survivors Day in the state of Michigan. We urge all citizens to join in this joyous celebration of life; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to Children's Hospital of Michigan as evidence of our support for their endeavors.

Senators Anderson, Barcia, Basham, Birkholz, Brater, Cassis, Clark-Coleman, Clarke, Gleason, Hunter, Jacobs, Pappageorge, Prusi, Richardville, Schauer, Scott and Switalski were named co-sponsors of the resolution.

House Concurrent Resolution No. 54.

A concurrent resolution to memorialize the United States Congress to enact the Education Begins at Home Act.

Whereas, Each year, an estimated 2.7 million children in America are abused or neglected, including 900,000 cases that are actually investigated and verified by overburdened state child protection systems. Nationally, more than 1,400 children die from abuse or neglect each year. Over half of them were previously unknown to child protective services. In Michigan during 2005, 147,628 families were investigated for suspected child maltreatment. In those families investigated, 28,154 children were confirmed to be victims of child abuse and neglect. Of all confirmed cases of abuse and neglect, more than a third involved children three years old or younger. Another 19,265 children were in out-of-home placement as the result of child abuse and neglect and delinquency; and

Whereas, Children who survive abuse or neglect likely carry the emotional scars for life, while studies also show that being abused or neglected multiplies the risk that a child will grow up to be violent. The best available research indicates that, based on confirmed cases of child abuse and neglect in just one year, of these children, there will be an additional 35,000 adult violent criminals and more than 250 murderers who would never have become violent criminals if not for the abuse or neglect they endured as children. Fortunately, evidence-based in-home parent coaching programs can prevent child abuse and neglect, and reduce later crime and violence. In general, these programs provide voluntary coaching to parents of children up to five years old in home settings for some period of time; and

Whereas, A number of programs exist to help parents. The Nurse Family Partnership randomly assigned interested at-risk pregnant women to receive in-home visits by nurses starting before the birth of the first child and continuing until the child was two years old. The program cut abuse and neglect among at-risk children in half according to research published in a leading medical journal. In addition, children of mothers who received this coaching had 59% fewer arrests by age 15 than the children of mothers who were not coached. Yet this program reaches only a tiny fraction of eligible parents. Other major home visiting programs include Parents as Teachers, Healthy Families America, Early Head Start, Home Instruction for Parents of Preschool Youngsters, and the Parent-Child Home Program. However, hundreds of thousands of at-risk mothers across the country receive no in-home parent coaching. The impacts of child abuse and neglect cost Americans $94 billion a year. In 2005, the direct cost of child abuse and neglect in Michigan was an estimated $531,744,598. Prevention efforts such as Michigan's 0-3 Secondary Prevention Initiative, which reflects the use of a variety of program models, saved an estimated $41,268,095 in direct costs associated with child abuse and neglect; and

Whereas, In the 110th Congress, Senators Bond and Clinton and Representatives Davis and Platts, have reintroduced the bipartisan Education Begins at Home Act (S. 667/H.R. 2343) to provide grants to help states establish or expand voluntary in-home parent coaching programs for families with young children. The Education Begins at Home Act authorizes $400 million over three years in grants from the United States Department of Health and Human Services for voluntary in-home parent coaching programs. The Education Begins at Home Act also authorizes $100 million over three years in grants for voluntary in-home parent coaching programs for English language learners and military families. These programs will strengthen Early Head Start, which includes center-based and in-home parent coaching components. Each of the major home visiting programs operates in Michigan, and the Education Begins at Home Act allows program flexibility so that states are not tied to one particular model. These voluntary programs will help new parents learn skills to promote healthy child development and be better parents; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), That we memorialize the United States Congress to enact the Education Begins at Home Act. We encourage sponsors of the bill to include separate funding authorization levels for each of the next five years, to target funding first toward jurisdictions with the greatest need, and to ensure that funding priority be given to evidence-based approaches that deliver effective results in improving outcomes for children and families; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, and the members of the Michigan congressional delegation.

The House of Representatives has adopted the concurrent resolution.

Pending the order that, under rule 3.204, the concurrent resolution be referred to the Committee on Government Operations and Reform,

Senator Cropsey moved that the rule be suspended.

The motion prevailed, a majority of the members serving voting therefor.

The question being on the adoption of the concurrent resolution,

Senator Cropsey moved that the concurrent resolution be referred to the Committee on Education.

The motion prevailed.

Senators Anderson, Barcia, Basham, Birkholz, Brater, Cassis, Cherry, Clarke, Gleason, Hardiman, Jacobs, Prusi, Schauer and Switalski were named co-sponsors of the concurrent resolution.

House Concurrent Resolution No. 84.

A concurrent resolution to memorialize the Congress of the United States to pass, and President Bush to sign, the Post 9/11 Veterans Educational Assistance Act.

Whereas, In 1944, the Congress of the United States passed, and President Roosevelt signed, the Servicemen's Readjustment Act, known to most people as the GI Bill of Rights. Since its establishment, the GI Bill has created educational opportunities for millions of veterans; and

Whereas, Since the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001, members of the United States military have been asked to perform heroic tasks in the name of freedom. These selfless volunteers have performed with remarkable valor, and it is incumbent on citizens of the United States to honor their service in any way possible; and

Whereas, The cost of attending college has increased greatly in recent years, and as a result the benefits provided by the GI Bill are no longer sufficient to cover the average cost of tuition; and

Whereas, Since 1944, Congress has periodically updated the GI Bill to reflect the changing needs of our soldiers and the military as a whole. However, despite the changes of the past decades, it has been 24 years since the law was significantly reformed; and

Whereas, Improving and updating the GI bill would create an additional incentive for individuals considering enlistment, which is vital given the all-volunteer nature of our military; and

Whereas, Two pieces of legislation currently before Congress, S. 22 and H. R. 2702, would update the GI Bill to reflect the current realities facing our servicemembers. These bills, known as the Post 9/11 Veterans Educational Assistance Act, would increase the amount of aid available to these students, and would otherwise remove obstacles to obtaining a college education. While not perfect, these bills represent a significant improvement over the current system; and

Whereas, Those who would complain about the costs of such a program seem to forget the staggering price we ask of these men and women. Likewise, those who complain that these bills would create an incentive to leave the military underestimate the dedication and devotion of our troops; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives (the Senate concurring), That we memorialize the Congress of the United States to enact, and the President of the United States to sign, S. 22 and H. R. 2702; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States, the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, and the members of the Michigan congressional delegation.

The House of Representatives has adopted the concurrent resolution.

Pending the order that, under rule 3.204, the concurrent resolution be referred to the Committee on Government Operations and Reform,

Senator Cropsey moved that the rule be suspended.

Statements

Senators Scott and Cassis asked and were granted unanimous consent to make statements and moved that the statements be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Scott’s statement is as follows:

Dr. King was hardly the only passionate civil rights activist in the King family. Coretta Scott King carried the double burden of being both black and a woman. She knew oppression two-fold, but she also shared Dr. King’s vision of hope. Coretta Scott King said, “When aroused, the American conscience is a powerful force for reform.” She did not say the American judicial system. She did not say the U.S. Congress. She did not say the Michigan Senate. She said the American conscience. It’s that voice inside you and inside me that directs us to do the right thing. Once that collective voice is expressed, it becomes indeed a powerful force for reform.

Well, those voices are building in Michigan as more and more people are speaking for reform to the state’s insurance system. Perhaps today is the day that my statement, my words, will stir you to listen to that voice inside you to do the right thing and join together for a just and proper cause. If not, I’ll be back tomorrow continuing to ask you to move my bills.

Senator Cassis’ statement is as follows:

Today I am introducing legislation to jump-start a cooperative, coordinated, regional approach to create the much-talked-about, but not acted-upon, expansion and renovation of Cobo Hall. We recognize the project has been on deck for at least 10 years, stymied by interjurisdictional disputes and disagreements. Senate leadership by Senate legislators is sorely, sorely needed to break this impasse and break up the logjam.

The health and success of Detroit is our compelling interest. The potential loss of our historic automotive groups imbedded deeply in our pre-eminent international auto show, along with the approximate one-half billion dollars Cobo brings back each year, will send shock waves far beyond our borders. We cannot afford for the international show to become displaced from the shores of the Detroit River.

We know the why to do it, so here is the how. The bill creates a mechanism whereby $25 million of the $75 million allotted to the 21st Century Jobs Fund would be appropriated in each of two years—2009 and 2010—but only if, and it’s a big if, and I quote from the bill itself, “additional public private funds are committed in conjunction with a signed, written consensus agreement with interested stakeholders to expand or renovate the existing convention facility comes first.”

My friends, this is not a give-away. Perhaps you could call it a carrot, an incentive. If the criteria are met, that is a signed agreement. It triggers the appropriations process which would specify the conditions. In this instance, the state acts as a facilitator, not a caretaker. We chose the 21st Century Jobs Fund as a logical funding choice to create jobs, spur economic development and growth, to energize a region, and promote tourism, and we expect concrete results.

In life, as in anything, timing is everything. Private investment and entrepreneurship stand at the ready. To name some of the business leaders and organizations passionate to revitalize the Detroit region, let’s look at these names: Chris Ilitch, Let’s Meet in the Big D, and the Ilitch family; the Big 3, Chrysler, Ford, and General Motors; Roger Penske and others behind the Woodward Light Rail Concept; Edsel Ford and One D, Doug Rothwell and David Brandon - Detroit Renaissance, Richard Blouse - Detroit Regional Chamber; Detroit Economic Growth Corp; Detroit Investment Fund; Richard Manoogian and others; Peter Karmanos; and on and on. And let’s not forget the groundwork of two formative leaders, county executives Brooks Patterson and Robert Ficano, along with the leadership of Macomb County. Where there is a will, there is a way.

Finally, this is an opportunity to transcend divisions and party lines; to lead in a cooperative effort, Senators; leading by example. I am pleased to have substantial bipartisan co-sponsorship. Thank you, colleagues.

I call upon our Governor to join us in this worthwhile endeavor of fostering a meaningful legacy of executive and legislative leadership.

Sec. 407. The funds appropriated in part 1 for the Wayne Community College northwest campus replacement shall only be released upon approval of the planning documents and construction authorization request by the JCOS. The project may not move into final design until JCOS approval.

Sec. 408. (1) State institutions of higher education and community colleges represent centers of activity for both energy consumption and innovation in energy conservation. The resources and knowledge base of these educational institutions can play a significant role in promoting renewable energy, energy efficiency, and environmental sustainability. To further promote these efforts and support Michigan businesses providing alternative energy services and products, projects authorized for planning in this act that meet the criteria set forth shall receive a 1% increase in state match for the project at the time of initial authorization, if matched with an equal or greater amount of institutional funds. This incentive is intended to encourage alternative energy and energy efficiency design solutions that exceed the minimum United States green building council’s leadership in energy and environmental design (LEED) scoring presently required in the department’s major project design manual.

(2) In order to be eligible for this incentive, new construction, retrofits, and renovation projects at universities and community colleges shall include 1 of the following:

- (a) Obtain a score equivalent to a “gold” level, in accordance with the United States green building council’s leadership in energy and environmental design (LEED) green building rating system, and include an on-site renewable energy component in direct connection with the funded project. Renewable energy projects must comply with the requirements set forth in LEED (version 2.2) EA credit 2: on site renewable energy. Eligible renewable energy technologies include, but are not limited to, solar, wind, geothermal, low-impact hydro, biomass, and biogas. Consistent with the general conditions of capital outlay appropriations, preference should be given to Michigan manufactured components and systems if they are competitively priced and of comparable quality. When applying these technologies for on-site generation, net-metering with a local utility, if applicable, is encouraged, but not required.
- (b) Obtain a score equivalent to “platinum” level, in accordance with the United States green building council’s leadership in energy and environmental design (LEED) green building rating system.

(3) After engaging a design professional, institutions desiring to be eligible for the incentive shall submit the requisite program statement and schematic planning documents, including all LEED scoring worksheets, to the department for review. The department shall recommend to JCOS whether a project is eligible for the incentive at the time program statements and planning documents are transmitted to JCOS for approval. Implementation of LEED point scored components and systems in the project are subject to audit verification by the department during the period of construction and up to 23 months after a project is substantially complete.

(4) Institutions receiving the alternative energy incentive shall integrate, to the extent possible, the learning opportunities from this renewable energy project into the educational curriculum of the institution.

(5) Institutions receiving the alternative energy incentive shall also work in partnership with the department of environmental quality to promote and showcase the use of renewable energy systems in the state. Active involvement may include, but is not limited to, inclusion of project on state Internet sites, workshops, demonstration activities, and on-site observations.

(6) One year after tenant occupancy of the completed project, the institutions receiving the alternative energy incentive shall submit a report to the JCOS, the department, the state budget director, and the department of environmental quality detailing the following:

(a) Estimated energy savings from the use of alternative and renewable energy resources in the first year of the project, and projected over the next 5 years.

(b) Whether the project includes net-metering with a local utility, and, if applicable, how much energy has been purchased or sold to the utility grid in the first year, and projected over the next 5 years.

(c) The Michigan companies that supplied components and systems to the designated project.

(d) The integration of information on the use of energy efficiency and renewable energy sources as exemplified in the project into the educational curriculum of the institution.

(e) Participation and engagement in public outreach efforts that promote and showcase the use of renewable energy systems associated with the project.

(7) University and community college projects authorized for construction in this act may also be eligible for the incentives provided in subsection (1), provided they meet the eligibility criteria in subsection (2). The total authorized cost of the project is increased by 2% (1% state share and 1% institutional share), respectively, if program statements and schematic design documents meeting the requirements of subsection (2) are approved by JCOS prior to the start of construction.”.

“Sec. 406. The authorizations in 2003 PA 193 and 2005 PA 297 for the Riverside correctional facility - power plant automation project (total authorized cost $4,500,000; state building authority share $4,499,800; state general fund share $200) are hereby reappropriated to the following projects:

(c) Camp White Lake - new waste water treatment plant, for design and construction (total authorized cost $1,300,000; state building authority share $1,300,000).

Sec. 407. The funds appropriated in part 1 for the Wayne Community College northwest campus replacement shall only be released upon approval of the planning documents and construction authorization request by the JCOS. The project may not move into final design until JCOS approval.

Sec. 408. (1) State institutions of higher education and community colleges represent centers of activity for both energy consumption and innovation in energy conservation. The resources and knowledge base of these educational institutions can play a significant role in promoting renewable energy, energy efficiency, and environmental sustainability. To further promote these efforts and support Michigan businesses providing alternative energy services and products, projects authorized for planning in this act that meet the criteria set forth shall receive a 1% increase in state match for the project at the time of initial authorization, if matched with an equal or greater amount of institutional funds. This incentive is intended to encourage alternative energy and energy efficiency design solutions that exceed the minimum United States green building council’s leadership in energy and environmental design (LEED) scoring presently required in the department’s major project design manual.

(2) In order to be eligible for this incentive, new construction, retrofits, and renovation projects at universities and community colleges shall include 1 of the following:

(a) Obtain a score equivalent to a “gold” level, in accordance with the United States green building council’s leadership in energy and environmental design (LEED) green building rating system, and include an on-site renewable energy component in direct connection with the funded project. Renewable energy projects must comply with the requirements set forth in LEED (version 2.2) EA credit 2: on site renewable energy. Eligible renewable energy technologies include, but are not limited to, solar, wind, geothermal, low-impact hydro, biomass, and biogas. Consistent with the general conditions of capital outlay appropriations, preference should be given to Michigan manufactured components and systems if they are competitively priced and of comparable quality. When applying these technologies for on-site generation, net-metering with a local utility, if applicable, is encouraged, but not required.

(b) Obtain a score equivalent to “platinum” level, in accordance with the United States green building council’s leadership in energy and environmental design (LEED) green building rating system.

(3) After engaging a design professional, institutions desiring to be eligible for the incentive shall submit the requisite program statement and schematic planning documents, including all LEED scoring worksheets, to the department for review. The department shall recommend to JCOS whether a project is eligible for the incentive at the time program statements and planning documents are transmitted to JCOS for approval. Implementation of LEED point scored components and systems in the project are subject to audit verification by the department during the period of construction and up to 23 months after a project is substantially complete.

(4) Institutions receiving the alternative energy incentive shall integrate, to the extent possible, the learning opportunities from this renewable energy project into the educational curriculum of the institution.

(5) Institutions receiving the alternative energy incentive shall also work in partnership with the department of environmental quality to promote and showcase the use of renewable energy systems in the state. Active involvement may include, but is not limited to, inclusion of project on state Internet sites, workshops, demonstration activities, and on-site observations.

(6) One year after tenant occupancy of the completed project, the institutions receiving the alternative energy incentive shall submit a report to the JCOS, the department, the state budget director, and the department of environmental quality detailing the following:

(a) Estimated energy savings from the use of alternative and renewable energy resources in the first year of the project, and projected over the next 5 years.

(b) Whether the project includes net-metering with a local utility, and, if applicable, how much energy has been purchased or sold to the utility grid in the first year, and projected over the next 5 years.

(c) The Michigan companies that supplied components and systems to the designated project.

(d) The integration of information on the use of energy efficiency and renewable energy sources as exemplified in the project into the educational curriculum of the institution.

(e) Participation and engagement in public outreach efforts that promote and showcase the use of renewable energy systems associated with the project.

(7) University and community college projects authorized for construction in this act may also be eligible for the incentives provided in subsection (1), provided they meet the eligibility criteria in subsection (2). The total authorized cost of the project is increased by 2% (1% state share and 1% institutional share), respectively, if program statements and schematic design documents meeting the requirements of subsection (2) are approved by JCOS prior to the start of construction.”
