You have promised to all who seek, understanding, patience and peace.

Our deliberations are in need of Your wisdom, Your direction and Your will as we fulfill our responsibility to be wise and prudent servants to those we serve.

Grant to each one in this chamber, character and care. Care for one another and care for the future of our great state.

At the end of our day, may we hear You say; ‘well done thou good and faithful servant.’

Amen.”

Comments and Recommendations

Rep. Stamas moved that the following remarks be printed in the Journal. The motion prevailed.

Rep. Knollenberg:

“Thank you Mr. Speaker and members of the House of Representatives for the opportunity to share my farewell speech. While it seems like just yesterday that I was first elected, it also seems like I’ve been doing this forever as well.

As I leave the legislature, it is with a great deal of gratitude that I share my perspective of what this opportunity to serve means to me.

The best way to do this is to share some of my experiences during my time here.

Most interesting experience certainly was the 2007 budget showdown tops the list. Let me explain. Number one: who would have thought a legislator that was in Russia for ten days of the shutdown would easily win reelection and go on to earn the respect of conservatives and tea partiers and become national committeeman? For the record the Speaker of the House told him that the budget would be done by then. (I doubt that anyone has or will plan a trip in that fashion after that unpredictable event). Number two- Sleeping bags: Yes, Sleeping bags were rolled into the Capitol and members were catnapping in the House chambers. Most of us were spared newspaper footage but some members were not so fortunate and I felt for them. It could have been anyone of us. You third termers know what I mean. Number three- Session interfering with a Sunday morning fundraiser? Yes it is true. I agreed to host a fundraiser at my home for three local council candidates. This fundraiser was a Sunday morning brunch and we were given permission to leave the Capitol after being sequestered for several days and were told that we had to be back in about six hours. This gave me enough time to go home, work out for 30 minutes, shower, grab several days of clothes, say hello to the guests for about 5 minutes and drive back to Lansing in time for another sequestering episode. God bless Lori for being a trooper since she put the house together and had to host the event in my absence and we weren’t yet married.

How to Lobby- Two things: First thing- Lobbyist’s giving Sergeants pieces of paper asking us to go out to the hallway to be lobbied. First time this happened to me it reminded me of grade school when the principal wanted me out of the classroom and this wasn’t usually good thing. Second thing- Lobbyist approaches me in my third term and wants to get to know me (seems a little late for that) and oh by the way he wants me to back off on my bill that just passed out of committee which is on the fast track. This is not the best way to lobby.

Most interesting quote- First term Coleman Young Jr. during 2007 debate on graduated income tax expressing to the house chamber that and I'm paraphrasing 'What's the big deal, none of my people are going to pay it and we should just pass it.' The room burst out laughing. He was definitely voting his district.

Minority vs. Majority- I started my 1st term in the minority and became a part of the majority party finally in my 3rd term. I have to say that being in the minority really isn't all that fun. Those of you that have been there know what I mean. I didn't know how bad it was when instead of being called 'Representative' for my first four years I was now being called 'Mr. Chairman'. This was definitely an eye opener.

On a serious note, I share these experiences because these are memories that we all relate to. Having said that though, none of it really matters. These are our experiences and our memories which are limited to inside the Lansing beltway.

The only thing that matters are the people that elected us. I am grateful to the Troy and Clawson citizens of the 41st district. I have tried to represent them and their interests. I truly believe that with almost 10 million people in our state we also have 10 million different opinions and I've tried to balance all of that and represent the 41st district the best that I know how. It has truly been an honor to represent and serve them. And I thank them.

There are a number of people that I need to thank:

- I start with my wife, Lori. We met over seven years ago and she wasn't aware that I had filed to run for State Representative. I had filed about a month before meeting her. It wasn't until about four months of dating that I told her that I was running and that campaigns are brutal and that this relationship may not last. She didn't like the sound of that and was determined to stick it out and prove me wrong. You all know what I mean. It is a hard process for loved ones and family. We got married three years later and she has been very supportive of my service. I thank her and I love her.
- I also need to thank my parents Joe and Sandie Knollenberg who have been there for me and provided the mentoring, the integrity, the diplomacy, and the inspiration to serve. They are great role models. In addition I want to also thank my brother Steve for his support.
- I also need to thank all the policy, communications, legislative staff for the expertise on the issues and making sure that I was prepared with special thanks to Tim Lee, Mike Webber, Dominick Pallone and Joelle Demand.
- I also want to thank Mark Meadows and Ed Clemente for their fairness when they were Chairman of committees that I served on and for their respect to the minority members.
- I also want to acknowledge my good friend, Chet Zarko, who passed away while serving as my legislative aide. I have missed him and know that he is above looking down on all of us.

We've come a long way since 2007. I believe Michigan is in a better place. Budget is solid, unemployment is lower, incomes are higher, we have more capital investments and there is more hope for a brighter future. We still have a long way to go and I hope that the next legislature continues in that fashion.

Again, I thank you all for the opportunity to give my farewell and to thank my constituents. God Bless."

By unanimous consent the House returned to the order of
