Hancock American Legion marks Memorial Day

By GRAHAM JAEHNIG
Daily Mining Gazette
HANCOCK — Members of the Alfred Erickson American Legion Post 186 turned out Monday morning to honor the fallen on Memorial Day, performing ceremonies at a dozen sites.

The post began at 7:50 a.m. on Michigan Street, in Hancock, to honor those veterans whose remains still occupy the cemeteries beneath the parking lots and churches of Catholic Church of the Resurrection, and the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church next door.

The next sites where ceremonies were conducted were the Houghton County Marina, the Veterans Park, in Houghton, Houghton's Forest Hill Cemetery, the Liminga Cemetery and the Oskar cemeteries, in Stanton Township, the Hancock (Montezuma Park) Memorial, in Hancock, the Quincy Hill Memorial, Waasa Cemetery, the Hancock Lakeside Cemetery, concluding with a ceremony at their Post 186 Home Memorial.

Memorial Day traces its origins to the veteran group Grand Army of the Republic, which was founded in 1866, in Decatur, Illinois, and quickly grew to include hundreds of posts across the northern states. The GAR was composed of veterans of the Union Army of the Civil War. At that time the heart of a regiment was a soldier's company and companies were raised by a prominent resident of a town, who recruited members from his town, or neighboring towns. The Civil War was the bloodiest conflict in the United States' history. When a soldier went into battle, he would inevitably see men die, those being the boys he grew up with. Those who survived would not, nor could not, forget their friends and relatives who had fallen in defense of their nation.

On May 5, 1868, the GAR established Decoration Day to decorate the graves of the war dead with flowers.

Major General John A. Logan former Union Army XV Corps commander was instrumental in the founding of the GAR, and was its second commander-in-chief. It was Logan who, on March 3, 1868, issued the now famous General Order Number 11, issued to all posts, calling for a national day of remembrance for Civil War dead. This order served as the basis for what became the national holiday of Memorial Day.

Gen. Logan's order for the posts to decorate graves in 1868 "with the choicest flowers of springtime" urged: "We should guard their graves with sacred vigilance. ... Let pleasant paths invite the coming and going of reverent visitors and fond mourners. Let no neglect, no ravages of time, testify to the present or to the coming generations that we have forgotten as a people the cost of a free and undivided republic."

Delta County incident used to remind canvassers of duties

By BRIAN ROWELL
Escanaba Daily Press
LANSING — Michigan Attorney General Dana Nessel and Secretary of State Jocelyn Benson are using a situation in Delta County to remind canvassers about their duties when certifying elections.

Swearing in ceremonies for newly elected Delta County commissioners had to be postponed later this month when two members of the Delta County Board of Canvassers refused to certify the vote. Bonnie Hakkola, who also serves as the local Republican party chair, and LeeAnne Oman, an alternate canvasser who also serves as the local Republican party secretary, both voted not to certify — splitting the board of canvassers 2-2 and blocking the certification. During a second meeting of the board later, the vote was certified, but Hakkola was silent when it was her time to vote

The Delta County Board of Canvassers voted to certify the county's May 7, 2024, election after an initial delay, heeding the advice of the Department of State and Department of Attorney General, Nessel and Benson sated in a press release.

Ahead of the May 14th Delta County Board of Canvassers meeting, two members publicly indicated they may vote against certification following a recall election in which three sitting County Commissioners were recalled. In the meeting that evening, the Board deadlocked 2-2 on certifying the election.

In response, the Department of State sent a letter to the canvassers warning them of the consequences of failing to certify the results. Those included:

- A misdemeanor Willful Neglect of Duty criminal charge;

- Delivery of Election Records to the Bureau of Elections in Lansing by the Canvassers; and,
- Substantial costs to the County, for which the Canvassers may be personally responsible.

"Canvassers are legally required to certify the election results that are brought before them once the legal requirements have been met," said Nessel. "Defying the will of the people based on conjecture, dissatisfaction in the results, or any other reason not based on Michigan law, will not be tolerated. While the Delta County Board ultimately met their obligations, and as a result have avoided the legal consequences, let this serve as a warning to all of the boards of canvassers across the state that the willful neglect of your duties is a criminal act."

"Michigan's law requires bipartisan boards of canvassers to carefully review election returns and certify our elections based on the election returns," Benson said. "There is no room for canvassers to go beyond their authority, take the law into their own hands, or undermine the will of Michigan's voters. Any canvassing board members that fail to fulfill their responsibilities under the law will see swift action to ensure the legal certification of election results, which will involve significant unnecessary costs for their local communities, along with possible civil and criminal charges against those members for their actions."

The Constitution and Michigan Election Law do not authorize canvassers to refuse to certify election results based on claims made by third parties of alleged election irregularities, or a general desire to conduct election investigations.

Despite rain, some Memorial Day events go on

By BRIAN ROWELL
Escanaba Daily Press
RAPID RIVER — The area celebrated a soggy Memorial Day Monday.

A driving rain didn't stop area veterans groups held Memorial Day ceremonies throughout the area. In Rapid River, even though the annual parade was canceled, other events were continued on.

In Escanaba, the Delta County Veterans Council held Memorial Day ceremonies at the Veterans Memorial and Aronson Island Bridge in Ludington Park Monday morning in rain that brought a quarter of an inch for precipitation to the area. A main ceremony was held later in the morning at Gardens of Rest Memorial Park in Wells.

The scene was repeated throughout the area with services planned at cemeteries in Ogontz, Moss

Lake, Holy Cross Cemetery, Perronville, Watson, Nahma, Lakeview Cemetery, Northland, Schaffer, Fernwood Cemetery in Gladstone, Rock, West Ford River, Stonington, South Ford River, Bark River, Escanaba Township and Rapid River.

Some events were canceled due to rain at Rapid River's 51st annual Memorial Day celebration, including the parade. However, other events and activities took place at the park and Lions Club during the day.

Carrigen Flath was crowned 2024 Memorial Day Queen in Rapid River. Other queen candidates were Abigail Hardwick, Madison LaCrosse, Amber Proehl and Emma Sundling.

The celebration was sponsored by the local Lions Club and American Legion.
