Senate Bill 1040 (as introduced 4-14-98)

Committee: Judiciary

Date Completed: 5-14-98

The bill would amend the Department of Corrections (DOC) law to expand the circumstances under

The DOC law requires the Department to supervise and inspect jails and lockups that are under the ion of the county sheriffs. The DOC must promulgate rules and standards promoting th proper, efficient, and that those rules may not prohibit the housing of two inmates in a county jail cell that is designed and ted for single occupancy if that cell is at least 65 square feet in area and provide unrestricted access to a day area that is available for use by inmates, other than those bein disciplined. The day area must be available at least 14 hours per day and contain an average of at

Under the bill, the rules could not prohibit the housing of two inmates in a county jail cell designed single occupancy either if the current requirements for square footage and day area ere met, or if the cell were at least 55 square feet in area and both of the inmates that a county jail met the design and population profile requirements proposed in the bill, county jail capacity would be expanded without construction costs. In general, counties asing capacity size would have additional costs for housing more offenders; however, o average the cost of housing offenders would decrease. Thus, counties could costs, but incur increased operating costs.
