Rev. Daniel Wermuth, II, Pastor of the Bethel Family Worship Center in Jackson, offered the following invocation:

"I would like to pray a prayer that David prayed, David the son of Jesse and the King of Israel.

O Lord, You have searched me and known me. You know my sitting down and my rising up; You understand my thought afar off. You comprehend my path and my lying down, and are acquainted with all my ways. For there is not a word on my tongue, But behold, O Lord, You know it altogether. You have hedged me behind and before, and laid Your hand upon me. Such knowledge is too wonderful for me; It is high, I cannot attain it.

Where can I go from Your Spirit? Or where can I flee from Your presence? If I ascend into heaven, You are there; If I make my bed in hell, behold, You are there. If I take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea, even there Your hand shall lead me, and Your right hand shall hold me. If I say, "Surely the darkness shall fall on me," Even the night shall be light about me; Indeed, the darkness shall not hide from You, But the night shines as the day; The darkness and the light are both alike to You.

For You formed my inward parts; You covered me in my mother's womb. I will praise You, for I am fearfully and wonderfully made; Marvelous are Your works, and that my soul knows very well. My frame was not hidden from You, when I was made in secret, and skillfully wrought in the lowest parts of the earth. Your eyes saw my substance, being yet unformed. And in Your book they all were written, the days fashioned for me, when as yet there were none of them.

How precious also are Your thoughts to me, O God! How great is the sum of them! If I should count them, they would be more in number than the sand; When I awake, I am still with You.

Oh, that You would slay the wicked, O God! Depart from me, therefore, you bloodthirsty men. For they speak against You wickedly; Your enemies take Your name in vain. Do I not hate them, O Lord, who hate You? And do I not loathe those who rise up against You? I hate them with perfect hatred; I count them my enemies.

Search me, O God, and know my heart; Try me, and know my anxieties; And see if there is any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting.

A prayer to David, King of Israel. Amen."

Rep. Scott moved that Rep. Schermesser be excused from today's session.
The motion prevailed.

Rep. Middaugh moved that Rep. Hart be excused from today's session.
The motion prevailed.

The motion prevailed, a majority of the members serving voting therefor.

Rep. Vear, having reserved the right to explain his protest against the passage of the bill, made the following statement:

“Mr. Speaker and members of the House:

Due to the fact that no consideration has been given to fund MI Trees for the 21st Century HB 4875 and no projects were granted in my district in HB 4310 I am voting no on this $11.5 million of spending by our great state of Michigan.”

Rep. Minore, having reserved the right to explain his protest against the passage of the bill, made the following statement:

“Mr. Speaker and members of the House:

I have no objection to projects recommended for funding from the Clean Michigan Initiative. I assume that the departments recommendations are sound and are based on reasonable and credible applications.

A cursory review of the recommended projects, however, suggests that urban population centers are not well served by this appropriation. It appears that there is a disproportionate number of projects serving townships, small cities and rural areas—leaving larger population centers under served.

My no vote is intended to remind the Department that the number of PEOPLE served needs to be considered in future reviews and recommendations.”

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 19.

A concurrent resolution to memorialize the Congress of the United States to support more flexibility for the states in the Welfare-to-Work program.

Whereas, In recent years, our country has made great strides in revamping the entire concept of welfare. Michigan has been especially effective in fostering increased self-sufficiency in tens of thousands of men and women; and

Whereas, Michigan's leadership in encouraging people to work, to pursue valuable training and education, and to escape dependence on public support has been most remarkable. Earlier this year, the Family Independence Agency caseload dropped well below 90,000, to a level Michigan has not seen in more than a generation. Indeed, as recently as 1994, the Family Independence Agency caseload stood at over 225,000; and

Whereas, A key contributor to Michigan's achievements has been its flexibility in developing and implementing programs like Project Zero and the MICHild health insurance program and initiatives to provide meaningful preparation for work. Programs to concentrate resources on target counties and communities have allowed for proper consideration of local situations and needs. This concept has proven to be most successful; and

Whereas, The federal Welfare-to-Work program, established as part of the Balanced Budget Act of 1997, is up for reauthorization. As it is examined, there are several areas that can be modified to provide greater flexibility. Provisions appropriate for change include allowing states to use a greater percentage of in-kind match and to count other federal and state funds, such as TANF and TANF maintenance of effort (MOE), as match; expanding eligibility standards; and changing the way funds are used for education training. These changes can help to bring about even more victories in the lives of individuals and families; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That we memorialize the Congress of the United States to support more flexibility for the states in the Welfare-to-Work program; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, and the members of the Michigan congressional delegation.

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 22.

A concurrent resolution to memorialize the Congress of the United States to investigate antitrust violations in the agricultural processing industry.

Whereas, In recent years, concern has grown over the possible extent and impact of monopolistic situations in certain aspects of the agricultural processing industry. There have been reports of price fixing and other violations by major corporate leaders in handling and processing agricultural products. These cases have caused many to question the integrity of the marketplace for several types of goods; and

Whereas, Mergers and the growth of international corporations in all aspects of agriculture are bringing changes to farming. Along with concerns over the impact on the traditional family farm and the impact on American agriculture, there are many who feel that the huge companies have become so large that a few entities can control the market often enough to eliminate competition. In the current situation, with depressed prices for many commodities in the midst of a robust economy, many farmers and processors worry about what will happen in the next downturn; and

Whereas, The strength of American agriculture is critical to the long-term best interests of our nation. For agriculture to thrive, the market must be fair. Faith in the system of determining prices cannot endure the threat that antitrust protections are being violated; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That we memorialize the Congress of the United States to investigate antitrust violations in the agricultural processing industry; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, and the members of the Michigan congressional delegation.

The Senate has adopted the concurrent resolution.

The concurrent resolution was referred to the Committee on Agriculture and Resource Management.

Reps. Rivet, LaSata, Julian, Jelinek, Richner, Jellema, Spade, DeVuyst, Howell, Allen, Sheltrown, Van Woerkom, Vander Roest, Bishop, Voorhees, Koetje, Jansen, Gosselin, Shackleton, Kelly, Neumann, Vear, Garcia, Scranton, Middaugh, Pappageorge, Hager, Birkholz and Green were named co-sponsors of the concurrent resolution.

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 23.

A concurrent resolution to memorialize the Congress of the United States to enact legislation to require price reporting for agricultural products.

Whereas, Amidst an era of unprecedented economic strength and consistent growth, American agriculture is facing significant and lasting problems. This fact is reflected not only in very low commodity prices, but also by the number of farms. A steady trend seems to indicate a continuing decline in the number of farms and a marked increase in the role of corporations in farming in parts of the country; and

Whereas, With a greater number of corporate conglomerates and mergers in the agriculture industry, more pressure is being exerted upon individual family farms. In certain sectors of the farm economy, giant companies make it almost impossible for traditional farms to succeed; and

Whereas, Many observers have questioned the continuing disparity between the prices paid for some agricultural products to the farmers and the price of the product as it enters the marketplace. While prices for many commodities are very low and have decreased considerably in the recent past, there seems to be little correlating reductions in the costs for consumers. This situation can be addressed through requirements for price reporting. Requiring a meat packing company, for example, to report publicly the price it paid for livestock would promote fairness. There have been several legislative proposals to make price reporting a requirement in order to increase accountability in a vital segment of our national economy; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That we memorialize the Congress of the United States to enact legislation to require price reporting for agricultural products; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, and the members of the Michigan congressional delegation.

The Senate has adopted the concurrent resolution.

The concurrent resolution was referred to the Committee on Agriculture and Resource Management.
