Rabbi Elimelech Goldberg of Kids Kicking Cancer of Southfield offered the following invocation:

We ask our Father in heaven to provide that light to the very wise individuals who stand in this room today. They're a little bit tired and there's been a lot going on, but give them the strength and the fortitude and the discernment to create a light in Your world that can know too much darkness. Bring us the faith and the strength and the wisdom together to create a union of all for the greater good of this beautiful state and this wonderful country. Grant strength and health to the wonderful representatives of the state of Michigan, these extraordinary Senators who stand before You. Bless them and bless us, and let us say: Amen.

The President pro tempore, Senator Schuitmaker, led the members of the Senate in recital of the Pledge of Allegiance.

The motion prevailed, a majority of the members serving voting therefor.

Senators Jones, O'Brien and Meekhof asked and were granted unanimous consent to make statements and moved that the statements be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Jones' statement is as follows:

Colleagues, today I sadly bid goodbye to another chief of staff. Because we're such a high-activity office, my chiefs of staff constantly have headhunters looking at them for their next position and offer more money than I can. As you recall, I had Cana Garrison and Jason Wadaga, and now Sandra McCormick will be going into the world of government relations. I always encourage them to take that next step and be successful.

Six years ago, I was without a front-office person and was looking for someone with a high work ethic. Sandra was laid off from the state party after an election cycle, and so I called and got a hold of her dad and said, "I'd like to talk to your daughter." He ran downstairs and said, "I think somebody wants to hire you." She arranged for a meeting so we could decide if she was going to be a right fit for the office and I soon hired her.

Now, in my office, if you work hard, when somebody leaves, everybody moves up, and that's exactly what's happened with Sandra. She has held every position in my office and has done a magnificent job as chief of staff. Not only are we a high-volume office with a lot of activity, but I chair the Senate Judiciary Committee and am very proud of Senator Schuitmaker, Senator Bieda, Senator Colbeck, and Senator Rocca for their work ethic because this year, 234 bills have moved out of the Senate Judiciary Committee. That doesn't count all the debate we had on the bills that didn't move, and it's not uncommon for me to say: "Get ready to rock because we have 18 bills on the agenda." We enjoy that work, and when we do that, you have to realize what the staff behind you has to do. Sandra constantly carried a briefcase home full of papers, and constantly had to work on bills while she played with Evie.

I'm very happy to have her parents here today, Dave and Cathy, and her daughter Evie. I want to thank her for all of her hard work for the last six years.

Senator O'Brien's statement is as follows:

It's also with sadness that I also am losing one of my valued staff: Collin McDonough. Collin has a lot of unique things about him. Probably the most unique is he has worked for half of the women Senators in the State Senate.

He also is known for his great style, always trying to get a smile, and if he knows there's an outfit you don't like, he's going to wear it even more often. We need that kind of sense of humor in the Legislature when we handle so many serious issues. It's nice to have somebody who can help us laugh and smile as we're dealing with a lot of the issues our state is facing. Collin has worked for both myself and our President pro tempore.

He has served us very well, but he's going on to greater things. I think one of the things in the term-limit era that we should be most aware of is that our staff will have a career after us, and what can we do to prepare them. I can say he's leaving us, but he's still going to at least be working for me because he is going to the Michigan Realtors, of which I'm a dues-paying member. Even though he will be working with Realtors from southeast Michigan, needless to say all the staff at the Realtors answer my phone call.

I'm very grateful for all his hard work and his talented skill. He's going to be so missed. We're going to miss all the bright outfits, we're going to miss what you're ordering for lunch—which must be planned out before 11 a.m.—but just all those great smiles that we had. I'm confident in saying that on behalf of Senator Schuitmaker and myself, we really treasure you, Collin, and we appreciate everything you've done for us. You will not be forgotten, and I really appreciate all that you have done to raise awareness for children who have disabilities and what the state can do to help them, and we look forward to seeing what the next outfit is in the Polar Plunge next year. Thank you very much for all you've done.

Senator Meekhof's statement is as follows:

As we're on this last day of session, a number of us have staff members who are moving on. For those of us of a certain age, when we consider our staff, we consider them like our own kids and Kelly Thomas certainly is no exception to that. Kelly, with Beckett and Mike are both here, we're honored to have a few moments with them.

It is an honor and a privilege to recognize and congratulate Kelly as she leaves the Senate for the next chapter of her career.

In this era of term limits, legislative staff people are a source of knowledge and insight and as executive assistant to my office, she is regarded as knowledgeable, friendly, organized, and determined. Kelly served as Communications and Grassroots Coordinator for the Associated Builders and Contractors of Michigan before she joined the Senate.

Kelly began her career in the Legislature in 2013. She graduated from Michigan State University in 2008 and graduated from Douglas Aveda Institute in 2010. Kelly's first job in the Legislature was in my floor leader office, and she was essential in the transition from the floor leader office to the Majority Leader office.

Kelly oversees staff dedicated to scheduling and constituent relations. She organizes all the office events, reviews constituent correspondence and interaction, and coordinates with the House for the annual State of the State address and reception. She maintains my schedule, and my chief of staff's and many other folks. In short, she effortlessly creates order out of total chaos.

Kelly is irreplaceable, and I know we use those words rather interchangeably but I'm serious. Her organization, her work ethic, and friendly personality will be missed. While others in my office are focused on the major issues of the day, Kelly knows it is attention to detail that ensures my office functions like a well-oiled machine.

In May 2016, Kelly and her husband Mike became parents to Beckett. On top of dealing with the many demands in her role as executive assistant, Kelly goes home each night to her second job, or maybe I should say her most important job, as wife and mother.

We will miss her and we wish her well in her future endeavors.

Senator Proos asked and was granted unanimous consent to make a statement and moved that the statement be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Proos' statement is as follows:

I appreciate the opportunity to take a couple of moments. Many of us on the floor in the last week, as is typical when we come to the end of a session, stop to say thank you to the folks that have helped to represent us in the community with the 270,000 or so people that we all represent. We've heard from several Senators who are losing valued members of their staff because new opportunities and new experiences await them outside of the work in the offices that we serve in for the short period of time that we serve. I'm no different than that, although this is an unusual experience for me. I've had the blessing of having staff that have stayed with me virtually the entire time that I've served in the Michigan Legislature, whether that be in the House of Representatives or here in the Michigan Senate.

Today, I unfortunately, but with great pride and excitement for Kim Wadaga, thank her for her service and her time. She, of course, well you wouldn't know this but she started as a newly-minted Michigan State University degree holder, and as that Spartan was a young lady who came into the office, I've had the pleasure in eight years between the House and the Senate of watching her grow, watching her become a new wife, and also become a new mother as you can see because Nolan, 2 1/2 years old, gets to join us today too. Nolan, if he speaks up, can be included in the Journal, Madam President, I'm sure, with his comments. I think all of us know that, for the most part, the work that we do is thankless. We, as the members of the Legislature, receive the adulation. We're the ones who receive some of the grief, but the folks who are behind the scenes every day giving their all for the constituents that we serve are folks like Kim Wadaga and Rebecca O'Connell and Trenton Miller in my office, Bob Wolfer before him, and Adam Mensinger in my district office. That team that gathers together every day to make a difference in the community is no different than your team, but for me, it's the best team and Kim has been a part of that as she has grown into what will soon be a new title in her life, as the legislative and budget director for Representative Cox, the new Appropriations chairman in the House of Representatives in the next term. That, to me, is the hallmark of somebody who has grown and developed into a fantastic staff member, a knowledgeable staff member, and Kim, most especially, a good friend.

Since I've had the pleasure of watching her grow over these years, and knowing that she's continued to become a key part of service in our community, as we say thank you and we say goodbye, I know that our offices will not be too far apart, I know that the chambers are not too far apart, and, Kim, you and your family, and your husband Jason who is not allowed on the floor as you might know—he's up in the Gallery—and Nolan will never be far away from our hearts. We thank you for your service, we thank you for all that you have done to support the people of southwest Michigan, and in particular, Kim, to support me and the work that I've done to try to make a difference. You've been a blessing to all of us, you're not far away from our hearts, and you're just a chamber across. Madam President, if you would all please join me in acknowledging Kim for her service and thanking her for her service.

While we're waiting a few minutes here, I encouraged the floor leader to go to Statements. I'm hoping that you and your family are anticipating time together, but I wanted to take a moment out of today's session and recognize my colleagues and their staff for the work throughout this year and throughout this term. We've had a long couple of weeks of session. It's been frustrating at times, it's dragged on at times, and, in my opinion, it's one of the lamest lame ducks ever. While we work through the remainder of the day, I want take a minute to recognize a few individuals who stood out this year for me, and I can't recognize all of you for all the things because we've done some really fine work.

First, Senator Mike Nofs. Thank you for your leadership on the energy reform. You've devoted years of your life and your time in Lansing to reforming and improving energy policy in Michigan. Your hard work and willingness to bring all sides of the issue together resulted in the passage of a bipartisan package out of the Senate and very shortly, we'll have a bipartisan package that will be in front of us.

Senator Goeff Hansen has devoted countless hours to helping reform our state's largest school district to ensure that 47,000 students in the city of Detroit have options for a better education. Senator Hansen, thank you for your willingness to work across the aisle and for your commitment to a comprehensive solution for the students and parents of DPS.

Senator Proos, thank you for all your work to reform our corrections system. I know it's a life passion of yours. I know we have not been able to move forward on all of your ideas, but I am committed to working with you to see progress in the New Year. I know you are committed to a common-sense change that improves our communities and the lives of those affected by our corrections system.

Senator Hildenbrand, I want to thank you for continuing to be working on that tradition of passing balanced budgets ahead of schedule. You are diligent, conscientious, and a thoughtful steward of taxpayer resources. Thank you for leading us through the appropriations process and for protecting the interests of Michigan taxpayers.

I also want to recognize Senator Jim Stamas for chairing the Joint Committee on the Flint Water Public Health Emergency, something which we didn't anticipate. You were willing to take on the daunting task of reviewing the circumstances of the emergency in Flint and have worked to promote solutions for the community and families who are still affected by the water crisis. The Senate joined together in a bipartisan manner to send resources to the residents of Flint and to pass policy that should help the community into the future.

Of course, I can't mention Flint without recognizing the tireless efforts of my friend, Senator Jim Ananich. On behalf of his hometown and his neighbors, one of the bright spots of my time so far as Majority Leader has been working with a Minority Leader who is willing to listen and reach consensus. As Minority Leader, it would be easy to tell me "no" all the time, but Senator Ananich is not satisfied to simply be the opposition. He wants to find solutions, and I respect his willingness to work together.

I wish I had time and all the words to recognize each one of you, but we might be here until next year and I know nobody wants that. All of you work tirelessly on behalf of your constituents and while we don't always agree on all the issues, we maintain respect and decorum in this chamber. You are, each one of you, my friend and colleague, and I respect your commitment to your office and your constituents and the people of the state.

I am proud of how often we come together as a chamber in support of our colleagues and staff in times of need. In particular, I want to thank everyone for their support of my staff member Craig Ryan. As you know, cancer tried to attack Craig Ryan and he kicked cancer's butt. I know I didn't get to tell each one of you how immensely proud I was that we rallied around him and his family in their time of need. It's a testament to Craig and the person that he is, and it's also a testament to the friendship and caring we have for one another and the people with whom we work.

I don't want to leave without mentioning our friend and my friend, Senator Morris Hood. Senator Hood is recuperating at home and doing quite well. If you're watching, Mo, how are you doing? Everybody wave to Mo. Our thoughts and prayers are with you, Senator Hood, and your family over this holiday season. We hope to see you back here very soon.

We have tackled many issues over this past year and in this term and we still have more to consider. With a list of issues that we'll continue to work on, including auto no-fault, legacy costs, corrections reform, and more, it's been a productive year and I have the same expectations for 2017.

I want to thank Jeff Cobb and the session staff for all their diligent work working through the computer system fits and starts, and the sergeants who are our friends and also our protectors. We thank you for the work that you're doing.

Thank you all for your willingness to serve the citizens of Michigan. Thank you for your willingness to work together. I want to wish you all a very Merry Christmas, a Happy New Year, and a wonderful holiday season. Please enjoy the time with your families and come back refreshed and ready to continue our hard work on behalf of our constituents.
