Pastor Bruce Ballast of Covenant Life Church of Grand Haven offered the following invocation:

Loving Father, first, we want to say thank You. Thank You for so many good things that You give us—life, health, and friendships. Today we especially thank You for the opportunity that we have to be involved in useful work and for the honor of bearing responsibility.

We come here today because this body has work to do on behalf of the people of this state. You said that You have established the authority of this group of people to promote peace, order, and justice. I thank You for these men and women and their willingness to step up to this great duty.

I pray for this assembled group, and I ask that You would graciously grant them wisdom to govern. That is indeed a challenge in this day of many conflicting interests and issues. Grant them a keen sense of the welfare and true needs of our people. Give them a thirst for justice and for righteousness in our society. Provide them confidence in Your leading so they may have confidence in their decisions. Give them the ability to work together in harmony, even when there is honest disagreement. I also pray for personal peace and joy.

As their agenda is before them, use them to be a blessing to all of us who call Michigan home.

Amen.

The President, Lieutenant Governor Calley, led the members of the Senate in recital of the Pledge of Allegiance.

Motions and Communications

Senators Caspersen and Green entered the Senate Chamber.

Senator Hood moved that Senator Johnson be excused from today's session.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Kowall moved that rule 3.902 be suspended to allow his guests and the guests of Senator Knollenberg admittance to the Senate floor.

The motion prevailed, a majority of the members serving voting therefor.

Senators Meekhof and Knollenberg asked and were granted unanimous consent to make statements and moved that the statements be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Meekhof's statement is as follows:

I rise today to acknowledge the work of a man to whom few can hold a candle. I am sure all of you in this chamber know Dennis Muchmore. Dennis recently retired as our Governor's chief of staff. I want to take a few minutes to recognize some of Dennis' achievements.

He received a bachelor's degree from Eastern Illinois University and a Master of Public Administration from Michigan State University. The public administration program of Michigan State University awarded him the Outstanding Alumnus award in 1998.

He is the founder of the multistate public affairs firm Muchmore Harrington Smalley & Associates. Dennis was the executive director of Michigan United Conservation Clubs, vice president of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce, consultant to the Michigan Senate Select Committee on Municipal Finance, and administrative assistant to two Senate Finance Committee chairs.

Dennis served on the board of directors for the Michigan Capital Chapter of the American Society for Public Administration, the Michigan Festival, the Capital Area Humane Society, the Lansing Symphony Orchestra Committee, and the Michigan State University Museum Development Committee. Currently, Dennis serves on the board of directors for GreenStone Farm Credit Services and the Michigan Livestock Expo.

Dennis is involved in numerous organizations comprising of Pi Alpha National Honor Society for Public Affairs and Administration, the American Society for Public Administration, the American Society of Political Consultants, lifetime member of the NAACP, the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, the Delta Sigma Phi International Fraternity, and the Eastern Illinois University and the Michigan State University Alumni Associations.

Now that I've made us all feel just a little more inferior by comparison, I also want to mention a few things about Dennis that have nothing to do with a piece of paper. Many of us in this room have friendships with Dennis, regardless of our political affiliation or whether or not we agree with him all the time. That is because Dennis is honest, direct, and worthy of our respect. It is my privilege to stand here today in the Michigan Senate and recognize Dennis Muchmore for his contributions to our community and our state.

Thank you, Dennis, for all you've done in working with us to make Michigan a better place.

Senator Knollenberg's statement is as follows:

I'm here to introduce Karen Korematsu who is here today. I'm going to share a few segments of her career. It is fitting that she is carrying on the legacy of her father. She is the founder and executive director of the Fred T. Korematsu Institute and is the daughter of the late Fred T. Korematsu. The Fred T. Korematsu Institute was founded in 2009 on the 25th anniversary of the reversal of Fred's WWII U.S. Supreme Court conviction. In May 2013, Karen became executive director of the Fred T. Korematsu Institute and led its transition in July 2014 to become an independent organization fiscally sponsored by community initiatives.

Since her father's passing in 2005, Karen has carried on Fred's legacy as a civil rights advocate, public speaker, and public educator. She shares her passion for social justice and education at K-12 public and private schools, colleges and universities, law schools, teachers conferences, and organizations across the country.

One of Karen's most significant accomplishments was working with assembly member Warren Furutani to successfully establish in 2011 a perpetual Fred Korematsu Day of Civil Liberties and the Constitution for the state of California on January 30. Fred Korematsu is the first Asian American in U.S. history who has been honored with a statewide day.

Karen's work and her father's legacy extends to advocating for civil liberties for all communities, and she addresses current issues that draw lessons from the past. She has signed on to amicus briefs in several cases opposing violations of constitutional rights arising after 9/11, including Odah v. United States, Turkmen v. Ashcroft, Hedges v. Obama, and Hassan v. City of New York. She authored the foreword to Patriot Acts: Narratives of Post-9/11 Injustice in 2011.

We're honored to have Karen here today. Her calling is remarkable. She is carrying on the legacy of her father. Let's give her a warm welcome.

In The Chair: President

The Senate agreed to the title of the bill.

By unanimous consent the Senate proceeded to the order of Resolutions

Senator Kowall moved that consideration of the following resolutions be postponed for today:

House Concurrent Resolution No. 3

Senate Resolution No. 76

Senate Resolution No. 75

Senate Resolution No. 12

The motion prevailed.

Senate Resolution No. 129.

A resolution recognizing January 24 - January 30, 2016, as Michigan School Choice Week.

The question being on the adoption of the resolution,

The resolution was adopted.

Senator Colbeck asked and was granted unanimous consent to make a statement and moved that the statement be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Colbeck's statement is as follows:

I rise in support of Senate Resolution No. 129. I was actually a product of school choice. I was blessed to graduate from Detroit Catholic Central. My mom and dad worked pretty hard to get me through there. We have a pretty robust public system of school choice here in the state of Michigan, and it's something to be celebrated. Not many states in the Union actually enjoy the degree of freedom that our parents and students have been blessed with here in the state of Michigan.

I encourage my colleagues to not only support his resolution, but support a continued dedication to providing our parents and their students with more options in our state for education.

Senator Knollenberg offered the following resolution:

Senate Resolution No. 136.

A resolution designating January 27, 2016, as Fred Korematsu Day.

Whereas, Fred Korematsu was born to Japanese immigrant parents in Oakland, California, on January 30, 1919, the third of four sons. He was one of the many American citizens of Japanese ancestry living on the West Coast during World War II; and

Whereas, Following the attack on Pearl Harbor by Japan on December 7, 1941, where 2,403 Americans were killed and 1,178 others were wounded, President Franklin Delano Roosevelt issued Executive Order No. 9066 that authorized the Secretary of War to require all Americans of Japanese ancestry to be placed in internment camps; and

Whereas, Fred Korematsu is famously known for his arrest, at the age of 23, on May 30, 1942, and conviction for defying the government's order to report to an assembly center to be moved to an internment camp; and

Whereas, Fred Korematsu later moved to Detroit, Michigan, where he met his wife Kathryn and married before returning to California; and

Whereas, A decision of Korematsu v. United States that declared his incarceration justified was formally vacated on November 10, 1983, by the United States District Court of Northern California in San Francisco; and

Whereas, This action, considered to be a pivotal moment in civil rights history, cleared the name of Fred Korematsu; and

Whereas, The Legislature recognizes the contributions to civil liberties made by Fred Korematsu; and

Whereas, Fred Korematsu was recognized in 2010 when the state of California enacted legislation, entitled Fred Korematsu Day of Civil Liberties and the Constitution, making January 30 the first day in United States history designated to honor an Asian American; and

Whereas, Fred Korematsu is considered by many as a national civil rights hero whose growing legacy continues to inspire people of all backgrounds; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate, That we hereby recognize the contributions that Fred Korematsu has made and designate January 27, 2016, as Fred Korematsu Day.

Pending the order that, under rule 3.204, the resolution be referred to the Committee on Government Operations,

Senator Kowall moved that the rule be suspended.

The motion prevailed, a majority of the members serving voting therefor.

The resolution was adopted.

Senators Bieda, Booher, Hopgood, MacGregor, Proos and Warren were named co-sponsors of the resolution.

Introduction and Referral of Bills

Senators Rocca, Hune, Bieda, Warren, Knollenberg, Horn, Jones, Stamas, Hildenbrand, Kowall, Proos, Schuitmaker, Ananich, Hood, Hertel and Schmidt introduced

Senate Bill No. 722, entitled

A bill to amend 1998 PA 58, entitled "Michigan liquor control code of 1998," (MCL 436.1101 to 436.2303) by adding section 610.

The bill was read a first and second time by title and referred to the Committee on Regulatory Reform.

Statements

Senators Colbeck and Young asked and were granted unanimous consent to make statements and moved that the statements be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Colbeck's statement is as follows:

If you are actually here today, I want to wish you a heartfelt congratulations because you have survived global warming. On January 26, 2006, Al Gore warned us that he believed humans may only have 10 years left to save the planet from turning into a total frying pan. Sadly, the global warming belief system of activists, such as Al Gore, was recently embedded into our state science standards.

So, on your way back to the Farnum Building, enjoy your walk through Al Gore's frying pan.

Senator Young's statement is as follows:

Mr. President and colleagues, I would like to rise today to speak on behalf of honesty and transparency. I would like to start with a quote from former New York Governor Andrew Cuomo: "Too often government responds to the whispers of lobbyists before the cries of the people." Let me tell you, friends, the people of Flint are crying. But instead of hiring more doctors, teachers, counselors, and nutritionists to help the children of Flint, Governor Snyder turned around and hired PR specialists. And not just any PR firm. Our Governor hired out-of-state, K Street super lobbyists, which seems particularly suspicious given the rumor that Governor Snyder may be asked to testify in front of Congress.

In case you're not aware, this company has spent more than $3.8 million during the last two election cycles to lobby Republicans in Washington, D.C. But it's not about that, right? The Governor insists Mercury's assistance will make it easier for state employees to focus on helping the people of Flint. However, were the Governor actually hiring Mercury for the good of the state, he'd be using public funds. Instead, he's continuing to pass the buck and dodge accountability.

Just last Friday, Mercury sent out an e-mail newsletter that blamed the Environmental Protection Agency for the Flint water crisis. And yet, despite incredibly damning nationwide coverage of the Governor's efforts, the Mercury newsletter only highlighted a handful of positive articles. That's no coincidence. At this point, it seems pretty clear that no one in that administration is dedicated to truth, justice, and the American way. The Governor would rather shield himself and his allies by using FOIA exemptions and private, secret money to spin this crisis than give Michigan and the whole nation the truth.

This is a public health crisis, not a public relations crisis. The Governor's public image is meaningless to the families whose children were poisoned by lead, to the nine people who died, and to the 89 people who are effected by Legionnaires' disease. The Governor's public image is especially meaningless to the future generations of children whose very DNA could be altered by the lead their parents were exposed to.

Colleagues, I would like to end with a quote from our Governor: "You deserve to know the truth and I have a responsibility to tell the truth, the truth about what we have done and what we will do to overcome this challenge." If only Governor Snyder's words matched his actions.
