Senator Horn asked and was granted unanimous consent to make a statement and moved that the statement be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Horn's statement is as follows:

This package of bills left the Senate as a very good economic development package. It came back from the House of Representatives a better package. I just wanted to offer a couple of explanations on amendments. It came back with a five-year sunset on all projects—a five-year cap per local unit, meaning that no one city can dominate the economic development in the state of Michigan. It requires that 35 percent of all projects be in cities, villages, or townships with populations less than 100,000, meaning, again, that this is a Michigan economic development and redevelopment package. It went further to say that populations of less than 25,000 can get waivers from the Michigan Strategic Fund to grow their communities. For example, in Owosso, they have an old warehouse and an old brewery that's been sitting empty for a very long time and they can't meet some of the $15 million or $25 million or $500 million minimums on these projects, so it allows us to do a waiver and define more tightly what a transformational project is in any community in the state of Michigan. It has an adjustment to the gap in the capture which makes this bill much more accountable and, I think, more transparent to the general public. All of these things make sure that the taxpayers are protected, and that these are strictly private development dollars that are put into this. This is likely to be the most significant urban redevelopment package that Michigan has seen in decades.

I'm pleased to present these bills back to the Senate as Messages from the House. I'd like to thank the sponsors of the bills, and I'd really like to take a moment to thank Melanie Ellison, my legislative director, who put countless hours in, and all the people and our stakeholders that are standing outside of this chamber in the form of the Michigan Thrive Coalition. This was truly a grassroots effort.
