Rabbi Steven Rubenstein, Rabbi of Congregation Beth Ahm in West Bloomfield, offered the following invocation:

“On the holiday of Passover, which ended this past Saturday, the Jewish people celebrated our path from Egyptian slavery to freedom, from darkness to light.

One might think that the road out of Egypt led to a life free of care and free of responsibility. A life without Pharaoh could be a life dedicated to doing as we see fit, a life of serving our own needs.

But the Torah teaches us in the Book of Exodus that this was never God’s plan. God tells Moses that when the Israelites are free they shall serve God; they shall serve God at the mountain where Moses first hears God’s call; and then they shall serve God wherever they go.

The Children of Israel were brought out of servitude, a lowly and belittling servitude, to a human king. They were brought out for the purpose of another servitude—service to God and to humanity.

As it says in the Book of Deuteronomy, What does the Lord your God demand of you? Only this: to revere the Lord your God, to walk only in His paths, to love Him, and to serve the Lord your God with all your heart and soul.

God expects a great deal from us. The focus of our service however does not flow only from us to God. God asks us to serve our fellow woman and fellow man. God expects us to care for our families, to raise our children, to care for the poor and the needy.

To serve God is to see the world beyond ourselves and to reject the spiritual blindness of narcissism which tugs at us; which tells us that to be free is to be free of responsibility.

In fact, to be free is to be free to serve; to serve God and to serve the people in our communities.

And so it gives me joy to be able to offer these words on a day that the late Maxine Berman, her memory is a blessing to us all, is to be honored here in the State House. Throughout her life and especially when she served in this chamber, Maxine Berman knew what it meant to serve her community, her constituents, her state, and her nation.

Therefore, I ask that the Holy Blessed One to bless the members of the Michigan House of Representatives with the spirit of service and may their deliberations today be for the good of all the citizens of the state of Michigan.”

The Speaker assumed the Chair.

Rep. Greig moved that Rep. Robinson be excused from today’s session.
The motion prevailed.

Motions and Resolutions

The Speaker, on behalf of the entire membership of the House of Representatives, offered the following resolution:
House Resolution No. 302.

A resolution of tribute offered as a memorial for Maxine L. Berman, former member of the House of Representatives.

Whereas, The members of this legislative body were saddened to learn of the passing of former Representative Maxine L. Berman. A fierce advocate for women’s rights and other social justice issues, she represented the people of Southfield and Lathrup Village with intelligence and integrity for fourteen years in the Michigan House of Representatives; and

Whereas, A native of the Detroit area, Maxine Berman began her career as a high school English teacher following her graduation from the University of Michigan. She became active in local political groups, working on a number of campaigns, before she ran for state office herself. In 1982, she was elected for the first time to the Michigan House of Representatives; and

Whereas, Over the next fourteen years, Maxine Berman was a strong and respected leader for what she believed was best for the people of Michigan. Outspoken, compassionate, and witty, she proudly fought for women’s health rights, ensuring women with breast cancer were informed of their treatment options and received appropriate care. Early in her legislative career, she served as chair of the Elections Committee and on numerous other committees before moving to the Appropriations Committee. As a member of that committee and the Michigan House Bipartisan Team, she helped craft Michigan’s current educational funding system; and

Whereas, Maxine Berman remained an active force in Michigan politics and women’s issues after her retirement from the House of Representatives. She founded her own political consulting firm, Capitol Strategies, Inc., and the Women’s Health Network of Michigan. She served as Director of Special Projects under former Governor Jennifer Granholm and would become the first woman selected as the Griffin Endowed Chair in American Government at Central Michigan University. In 2015, she was inducted to the Michigan Women’s Hall of Fame; and

Whereas, Maxine Berman will be remembered as a woman who made a difference. Whether within the walls of this chamber, the sanctuary of her synagogue, or the classrooms in which she taught, Maxine Berman touched the lives of many for the better; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives, That we offer this expression of our highest tribute to honor the memory of Maxine L. Berman, a member of this legislative body from 1983 to 1996; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the Berman family as evidence of our lasting esteem for her memory.

The question being on the adoption of the resolution,

The resolution was adopted by unanimous standing vote.

The Speaker called Associate Speaker Pro Tempore Tedder to the Chair.

Reps. Cambensy, Dianda, Chirkun, Hertel, LaFave, Elder, Gay-Dagnogo, Clemente, Ellison, Hammoud, Kelly, Love and Sneller offered the following resolution:

House Resolution No. 303.

A resolution to endorse continued investment in Michigan's Upper Peninsula by Cleveland-Cliffs Inc. and to encourage a partnership between the state of Michigan and Cleveland-Cliffs to support Cliffs' reinvestment in the Empire Mine in Richmond Township.

Whereas, Cleveland-Cliffs Inc. has a long and storied history in the state of Michigan. The company's first iron ore mine was founded in this state, and for more than 170 years, Cliffs has been contributing hundreds of millions of dollars annually to local and state economies. The low-grade iron ore mines operated by Cleveland-Cliffs in Marquette County are the lifeblood of many area residents, and manufacturers throughout the state and nation rely on the steel produced from Cliffs' iron ore pellets; and

Whereas, Closing or idling a mining operation has a significant impact to rural communities. At the height of mining in the Upper Peninsula in 1917, mines employed more than 20,000 people in the three major iron and copper ranges. When Cleveland-Cliffs' Republic Mine idled in 1983, it displaced 750 employees and did not reopen. In 1980, the company employed 4,000 people in Marquette County, a number that dropped to 2,000 in the 1990s and continued to dwindle to approximately 1,000 after the Empire Mine idled in 2016. For a short time in 1982, the unemployment rate in Marquette County hit a peak of 29.7 percent, due to the recession, steel industry consolidation, and mining job losses; and

Whereas, The continued idling of Cleveland-Cliffs' Empire Mine would have a significant impact on the economy and local employment opportunities. A recent estimate projected that the impact of idling the mine is approximately $200 million annually in total lost economic activity, which will continue if the mine is permanently closed. The indefinite idle of the Empire Mine impacted approximately 300 jobs; and

Whereas, The continued operation of Cleveland-Cliffs' Empire Mine is beneficial to the company and our state. As the company evaluates the next generation of mining investments, the Empire Mine is ideal for long-term success. The Empire Mine can be a productive mine for years to come, capitalizing on existing assets and infrastructure and supporting responsible stewardship of the environment. As the need for domestic steel and metal products grows, the company stands to benefit from the renewed statewide and national commitment to upgrade America's infrastructure; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives, That we endorse continued investment in Michigan's Upper Peninsula by Cleveland-Cliffs Inc. and encourage a partnership between the state of Michigan and Cleveland-Cliffs to support Cliffs' reinvestment in the Empire Mine in Richmond Township; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the Governor, the members of the Michigan congressional delegation, the members of the Marquette County Board of Commissioners, the members of the Tilden Township Board of Supervisors, the members of the Richmond Township Board of Supervisors, the Board of Directors of the Upper Peninsula Commission for Area Progress, and Mr. Lourenco Goncalves, Chairman, President, and CEO of Cleveland-Cliffs Inc. in Cleveland, Ohio.

The resolution was referred to the Committee on Commerce and Trade.

Reps. Hammoud, Wittenberg, Santana, Clemente, Moss, Cambensy, Cochran, LaGrand, Zemke, Liberati, Gay-Dagnogo, Yanez, Green, Robinson, Jones, Chang, Ellison, Kelly, Rabhi and Sneller offered the following resolution:

House Resolution No. 304.

A resolution to urge the United States government to publicly and formally call for a solution to Yemen's current crisis, condemn the fighting and war crimes, and recognize the suffering of the Yemeni people and their need for humanitarian aid.

Whereas, Rooted in political issues dating years back, factions in the Republic of Yemen have been in conflict since early 2015. The United Nations has marked this crisis as comparable to those in Iraq, Syria, and South Sudan, highlighting the severity of the suffering; and

Whereas, The Yemeni conflict has devastated the lives of many people. There have been more than 10,000 civilian casualties, numerous human rights violations, and several war crimes. Over 20 million civilians are in need of humanitarian assistance, and around 8 million are experiencing severe food insecurity. Extreme health issues, including a significant cholera outbreak and famine, have also gripped Yemen. Moreover, masses of people have been forced to relocate within the country or leave altogether as refugees. There are more than 2 million internally displaced Yemenis; and

Whereas, Vital resources, including food, water, medical supplies, and other humanitarian aid, have been blocked by warring parties in Yemen. People are starving, suffering, and dying because of the blockades. For instance, many people with cholera, which is treatable with antibiotics and IV fluids, are not receiving treatment because of a lack of supplies. The ports, where desperately needed resources enter the country, are not fully open and operational, limiting the flow of imports coming from many commercial and aid organizations; and

Whereas, Some actions have been undertaken to stem the Yemeni conflict, but further efforts are necessary. In 2016, the United Nations Special Envoy of the Secretary General for Yemen, Ismail Ould Cheikh Ahmed, facilitated a temporary cessation of hostilities. His moves to help find a solution to the conflict show immense promise. The United Nations Security Council continues to urge all parties to reduce violence, minimize civilian casualties, and immediately stop blatant violations of human rights; and

Whereas, World leaders, like the United States, have a moral imperative to work toward an end to the Yemeni conflict and help the country's people beleaguered by the crisis. The United States has the influence to broker a ceasefire and peace negotiations. It has the resources to ensure people in Yemen receive adequate aid as well; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives, That we urge the United States government to publicly and formally call for a solution to Yemen's current crisis, condemn the fighting and war crimes, and recognize the suffering of the Yemeni people and their need for humanitarian aid; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States, the United States Secretary of State, the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, and the members of the Michigan congressional delegation.

The resolution was referred to the Committee on Military and Veterans Affairs.
