Senator Sylvia Santana of the 3rd District offered the following invocation:

Lord, we humbly come before You on this day that You have made to do Your will, not our own. In Your Word, Galatians 6:9 says, “Let us not become weary in doing good, for at the proper time we will reap a harvest if we do not give up.” Lord, while we are planting those seeds in the ground, let them be seeds of love, not hate; unity, not division; understanding, not bigotry. God, You give life to us all and You said in Your commandments that we shall not kill. Please, Lord, have mercy on those who choose or have chosen to disobey this commandment. Let them pause from their ways, and let them think wisely on every decision. Let justice prevail with Your guide, not ours. I pray for all the generational curses of slavery in our nation, and for others that keep some in fear of letting go and others who feel the bondage of oppression. Let us walk in the love of Your light You have given all of us. Let the soul of the nation be healed. May the favor of the Lord be upon us and our children and our children’s children.

“May His presence go before you, and behind you, and beside you. He is with you, He is with you.” Amen.

The President pro tempore, Senator Nesbitt, led the members of the Senate in recital of the Pledge of Allegiance.

Senator Lauwers moved that the bill be given immediate effect.

The motion prevailed, 2/3 of the members serving voting therefor.

The Senate agreed to the title of the bill.

Senators Barrett and Hollier asked and were granted unanimous consent to make statements and moved that the statements be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Barrett’s statement is as follows:

I want to publicly acknowledge and appreciate the work that was done around this bill. My friend and colleague from Detroit who worked with me on this bill—the Senator who is an advocate for our men and women in uniform—who worked with me closely to raise funds for the men and women who were deployed to our U.S. Capitol over the last several months. We passed a resolution back in March unanimously in this body calling on the National Guard Bureau to cancel the food service contract and issue a meal stipend to the men and women who were serving. That request did not get fulfilled, so we set to work on an alternative plan to try and raise funds to reimburse some of our soldiers for the meal expenses that they had to go out of pocket for. Many of them had reported meals that were unsafe and undercooked with raw meat. Several of them—50 soldiers—were actually treated for food poisoning and that’s just unacceptable, especially in our nation’s capital in a first-world country with all the blessings that we have here in the United States.

I'm proud to report that we raised, quickly, over $100,000 to reimburse our men and women for the food expenses that they incurred. Each soldier should be eligible for a little over $100 for every single one of them as a result of the deployment that they went on and the expenses that they incurred. The bill before us today allows us to send that money to the Department of Military and Veterans Affairs, who will send it directly to the troops. Because of the rules around confidentiality and privacy, we cannot directly send them the funds from the charity that we raised the money into, so we have to first send it to the state of Michigan who can then remit payment to each one of these soldiers, and that's what this bill accomplishes today.

Again, I want to thank my friend from Detroit and I want to thank our Appropriations chairman for his steadfast work on this as well, and each and every member here who started with the resolution last month to bring attention to this very important issue and really a great example of what happens when we come together, put our differences aside, and do the right thing for the people that serve our state.

Senator Hollier's statement is as follows:

I just want to echo the statements of my good colleague. Over the last couple weeks and over this year, there have been so many divisive things that have happened, but this was an incredible opportunity for us to come together and do something that's meaningful to each other. Throughout this process, every single person we reached out to was so excited to see that a conservative Republican and a liberal Democrat from Detroit were working together to do something for other people. We saw an outpouring of support and we did something that no one else across this country has done.

Every soldier who was deployed to the Capitol dealt with terrible conditions, but only Michigan soldiers are going to be taken care of. Only Michigan soldiers are going to get this benefit and are going to be taken care of this way, and it's only possible because of all the people in this chamber and the people of the state of Michigan who decided that they're willing to support these soldiers. I think it's an incredible opportunity for us to look forward into our budget cycle and to say here's an opportunity for us to leverage working together on shared values and the things we all find important, which are taking care of the people who take care of us.

I just want to thank my colleague from Charlotte for all his advocacy, for everyone who contributed to this, and for all the members who are going to make sure that every single one of our deployed soldiers are taken care of, because we have more soldiers deployed now than ever before but most importantly, we are going to have a lot of soldiers who go back to their lives, a lot of soldiers who have been on duty for the last year, and an environment and a country that is not accustomed to bringing back those individuals, workplaces that are not thinking about how they're going to fill them, and places that have been hostile or not as supportive as we know they need to be. I hope this is just the beginning of our commitment as a chamber, as a Legislature, and as a state of taking care of the soldiers who take time away to take care of us.

By unanimous consent the Senate proceeded to the order of

Resolutions

Senator Lauwers moved that the Senate proceed to consideration of the following resolution:

Senate Resolution No. 40

The motion prevailed.

Senate Resolution No. 40.

A resolution to recognize April 2021 as Arab-American Heritage Month.

(This resolution was offered on April 15, rules suspended and consideration postponed. See Senate Journal No. 31, p. 485).

The question being on the adoption of the resolution,

The resolution was adopted.

Senator Santana asked and was granted unanimous consent to make a statement and moved that the statement be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Santana's statement is as follows:

In honor of Arab-American Heritage Month, I want to acknowledge the many families here who call Michigan home. I just want to say that I have been privileged to have a community of people who reside, some in the city of Detroit, others who reside in the city of Dearborn and throughout the state of Michigan, who have provided so much a wealth of history as well as economic increase to our communities. I think back to the many conversations I've had with the American Arab Chamber, talking to Fay Beydoun who is the executive director of that organization, and talking to her about the ways that on the east side of Dearborn back in the 1980s how there were no businesses there, and how now you have a robust community of entrepreneurs and business owners right there in the city of Dearborn who provide so much to our existing community—job opportunities, as well as a reciprocation of wealth right in our communities.

I think about my neighbor Anna who came from serving with USAID in Iraq and had to flee Saddam Hussein to come to the United States to continue her life here in America. Since she's been my neighbor, she has been nothing but an esteemed neighbor to me and my family and to the families throughout our community. Since she's been in that community, she's become a citizen of the United States. She's gone back to school to get her education and has called the city of Detroit her home. I think to all of those individuals who are here who work in so many different industries who provide patents and are doctors here in our country.

Most people think of the Arab American community and think they just came off a boat or came because they were refugees from another country, but in all actuality there have been people coming from different countries in the Middle East since the 1800s to the United States. When I think of that community, I think about my own community and how it's so important that we stay unified. It's so important that we understand other cultures and make sure that we continue to lift all tides in our communities. I really think that when we think about the Arab American community, think about how they are so unique as a family unit, how they take care of their seniors and their family but they also continue to make sure that education is a priority for their young people.

When I think about this community, I think about just how unified they are and I think this is so important for all of us here in the United States and us here in Michigan to stay unified as a people and make sure we open our broader horizons and also understand those different cultures of people and also make sure we are continuing to make sure we support them in our communities as well. I think about here in state government how we have so many great people right here working in state government who I actually had the privilege of going through political trainings with who have provided so much opportunity and growth to our state here in Michigan.

With that said, I just want to say thank you to the Arab community for all that you do, not only here in Michigan but across this country and I definitely look forward to continuing to serve you here at the State Capitol.

By unanimous consent the Senate proceeded to the order of Statements

Senator Hertel asked and was granted unanimous consent to make a statement and moved that the statement be printed in the Journal.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Hertel's statement is as follows:

I rise to ask you to take advantage of a co-sponsorship opportunity on my desk today. It is the third time trying to pass Wyatt's Law here in Michigan.

Many of you have already heard the story behind this bill. You have likely met Wyatt's mother, a tireless advocate for this legislation, Erica Hammel. When Wyatt was one year old, Erica had concerns about his father's new girlfriend, but couldn't find the information she needed to confirm her suspicions. It wasn't until Wyatt suffered shaken baby syndrome at the woman's hands that she learned the woman had twice been convicted previously of child abuse. Wyatt had a fractured skull, a major brain bleed, suffered permanent brain damage, went blind in one eye, and had broken ribs. Now, eight-years-old, Wyatt is thankfully here with us but continues to suffer cognitive and developmental delays as a result of the abuse. If Erica had been able to access the information she was seeking, without road blocks, she may have been able to prevent this tragic event.

This legislation provides for the creation and maintenance of a publicly-accessible database of those convicted of child abuse so parents like Erica have the tools they need to access the information they deserve to keep their children safe. Erica, Wyatt, and Christyne Kadlitz are here today in the Gallery in support of this important legislation's introduction. Wyatt's Law passed the Senate last session with near unanimous support and I know that they will continue to advocate. They will never stop fighting until this is done. So this session we hope to get the bill all the way through to the Governor's desk, so please help us in that effort by co-sponsoring this bill. Join me in supporting this legislation to ensure that no child in Michigan has to endure what Wyatt has. The blueback is on my desk for co-sponsorship and I appreciate your consideration.
